It goes without saying that today's school management solutions must be powerful and Web-based. But what really matters is the ability to deliver all that power, the features you want, and the information they manage, across your school community when and where you need it. And make it all easy for you to access, manage and use.

Other systems involve multiple databases that don't easily communicate with one other. But our comprehensive feature set — based on what we've learned about schools' needs over the past 13 years — is seamlessly integrated into a powerful database to deliver performance plus convenience.

That unique RENWEB EXPERIENCE has propelled us into the top-selling school management solution among private schools.

Powering School Systems Online

We understand your frustration with the experience you get from other school management solutions that require you to synchronize data and information across separate databases.

That's what distinguishes the RENWEB EXPERIENCE: the ability to easily and seamlessly access and use the info you need from a single INTEGRATED DATABASE anytime, anywhere via the Web.

One Integrated Database

EXPERIENCE RENWEB'S INTEGRATED DATABASE: From School Administration to the Classroom to the Home

RenWeb's Database houses the POWER of 185 features — providing a seamless and robust connection among the three major areas of every school: Administration, Classroom and Home.

What makes this work is INTEGRATION. Other programs try to take a student information system and attach a separate modular grade book and then a parent portal to make it Web-enabled. But achieving truly seamless functionality and ease-of-use requires a system planned, designed and constructed using an integrated database architecture from the beginning.

In short, our INTEGRATED DATABASE architecture delivers RenWeb's POWER in a way that makes it easy for everyone in your school community. That's why it's the heart of the RENWEB EXPERIENCE.

RenWeb Growth

RenWeb's vision began 13 years ago when a University Dean of Engineering combined his experience as an administrator, teacher and parent, with his real-world software engineering expertise. Using this experience he created a complete, integrated school management solution addressing the various needs of administration, staff, teachers, parents and students.

As RenWeb's power and convenience grew, its base of member schools expanded as well, by more than 1,400 in the last five years alone. No other Web-based school management software provider can match that growth, reinforcing RenWeb's status as the #1 solution for private schools.
